The 925 Building

925 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, OH

DISCLAIMER

This Memorandum has been prepared for the purpose of providing a summary and general overview of certain real property consisting of approximately 1.45 million square feet located at 925 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, commonly known as “The 925 Building” and formerly known as “The Centennial”, “Union Trust Building,” and “Huntington Building” (the “Property”). The Property is being marketed by Gordon Brothers Realty Services, LLC (“Gordon Brothers”), which has been engaged by John K. Lane of Inglewood Associates, LLC, the court-appointed receiver (the “Receiver”), in connection with a commercial foreclosure action filed by Deutsche Bank against HH Cleveland Huntington, LP, the owner of the Property.

This Memorandum is provided solely for informational purposes and does not purport to be, and may not be relied upon as, a complete or exhaustive description of the Property or of any matters relating thereto. The information contained herein does not include, and is not intended to include, a complete description or recitation of all applicable laws, regulations, entitlements, development matters, title matters, environmental matters, contracts, agreements, or other matters affecting the Property, nor of all obligations, responsibilities, or duties that a purchaser of the Property may be required to assume in connection with the acquisition, ownership, or development of the Property.

This Memorandum does not constitute and may not be relied upon as legal, business, financial, tax, investment, or other professional advice. Prospective purchasers are encouraged to conduct their own independent investigation and analysis of the Property and all matters relating thereto and to consult with their own legal, financial, tax, and other professional advisors.

Gordon Brothers on behalf of the receiver, John K. Lane of Inglewood Associates, LLC, are pleased to present this exclusive opportunity, to acquire, The 925 Building. This is a significant mixed-use redevelopment opportunity set in a historic building with a rich past, located at 925 Euclid Avenue, in the heart of Downtown Cleveland's Central Business District, at the prominent intersection of East 9th Street and Euclid Avenue. Completed in 1924, the property is one of Cleveland's most architecturally significant structures and a defining asset within the city's historic Nine-Twelve District.

Encompassing approximately 1.45 million square feet across 21 stories, The 925 Building was originally constructed as the Union Trust Building and remains one of the largest buildings in the United States by floor area. The property features a grand, historic banking hall—among the largest ever built—distinguished by soaring ceilings, monumental columns, and preserved architectural detailing that positions the building as a premier candidate for adaptive reuse or repositioning.

The 925 Building represents a rare opportunity to acquire a generational, irreplaceable downtown asset with substantial scale, historic character, and long-term redevelopment potential in one of the Midwest's most established central business districts. This redevelopment opportunity provides the flexibility to incorporate a variety of uses such as hotel, dormitory, retail, residential, office, data center, and self-storage users. The property is 100% vacant.

Certain developer tax credits are available along with the redevelopment opportunity, which include:

- Transformational Mixed-Use Development (TMUD) which is an Ohio tax credit designed to support large-scale, "transformational" construction projects that blend residential, commercial, and retail uses
- Historic tax credits (HTCs) provided for historic structures
- Brownfield tax credits which are for the cleanup and redevelopment of contaminated or underutilized industrial/commercial properties providing the developer with tax deductions for remediation costs or credits for site improvements
